DARLAN HELD PRISONER BY U. S. FORCES

Chief of Vichy Armed Forces
Captured; Africa Operations Advance.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Admiral Jean Darlan, chief of all Vichy armed forces, is a prisoner of the Americans.

Oran, the chief French North African port on the Mediterranean, has been entered by United States troops.

Thus, French North Africa tumbled today under the armor-tipped blows of a United States expeditionary force striking with might and speed.

So rapid was the campaign's progress, still only in its third day, that it outstripped the expedition's communication system's ability to report it.

An allied headquarters spokesman here, however, declared the whole operation was reeling off with smooth precision and skill with but slight United States casualties.

Situation at Glance
This was the situation at a glance:

1. Darlan, once member of the collaborationist triumvirate of Vichy and a sparkplug of French Vichy.

$7,000 FIRE SWEEPS TRUCK TERMINAL

Marion Structure of Eastman
Trucking Co. Destroyed.

Damage estimated at $7,000 resulted this morning when fire destroyed the terminal of the Eastman Trucking Co. on South Prospect street, just south of the Pennsylvania railroad crossing.

The fire, discovered shortly after 7:30 a. m. by a passing motorist whose name was not learned, destroyed a 40-by-60-foot corrugated iron and frame structure. In the building at the time of the fire were a 1937 model Chevrolet truck, a Diamond-T tractor and two trailers. All were badly damaged.

The trailers contained materials to be delivered this week to war plants in the Marion area. The largest of the two trailers contained between 10 and 11 tons of silica flour, a powdered material used in iron and steel foundries. The material was to be delivered to the Commercial Steel Castings Co., an employee of the trucking concern said. While this material was damaged only slightly by fire, water damage may have ruined the shipment. It was reported.

Tires Burned
Most of the 18 tires on the four vehicles stored in the terminal were destroyed and several others were damaged.

U. S. March East Cheers Eighth Army

By EDWARD KENNEDY
WITH BRITISH FORCES
ADVANCING TOWARD LIBYA,
Nov. 10.—The British Eighth Army, jubilantly pursuing the humbled remnants of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Army into Libya, was made happier than ever today by President Roosevelt's word that United States troops in North Africa planned to cross Tunisia and help trap the harassed axis forces in Libya.

While mobile elements of the Eighth Army entered into Libya only a few hours behind the axis troops in an effort to complete their victory, other allied groups were clearing out the last pockets of resistance in Egypt. Matruh is now clear and peaceful.

The spoils left by the defeated axis army in Egypt are enormous. Included in the booty are great quantities of allied supplies captured by the axis in the advance to El Alamein, as well as stores of German and Italian material.

Here was evidence of how the Germans are squeezing food out of the countries they have occupied—and Italy as well—to feed the German army. There were enormous supplies of tinned Danish hams and bacon, Norwegian saltdines and herring, Dutch sausages, French and Italian wines and Italian mineral water and canned vegetables.

There also was the best German has in the way of food—delicious gingerbread from Nuremberg, flamed meat, butter, vegetables, excellent yeast bread and Munich beer. Judging by this food dump, the German Army is fed better than the British Army—at least the German officers are.

The desert is strewn with vehicles, guns, tanks and other equipment which are being put into service by the British whenever it is practical.

British tanks continued to hammer at the retreating Germans.

The retreating Germans, who surrendered, said they knew their main force was many miles to the west and that they were cut off, but they added they had been ordered to resist.

Most of them were young and ready to talk freely to relieve their nervousness.

ROOSEVELT'S IDEA

Churchill Calls President
"Author of Undertaking."

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Prime Minister Churchill declared today that President Roosevelt "gives good prospect of becoming decisive and final" so far as the defense of Egypt is concerned.

He said it was launched "as a prelude and counterpart to the momentous undertaking by the United States at the western end of the Mediterranean."

He reiterated his faith that France will rise again, disclaiming any British designs for new territory, but added firmly:

Mean To Hold Own
"We mean to hold our own. I have not become the King's first minister in order to preside over the liquidation of the British empire."

ALLIES CIRCLE JAP POSITION

Enemy Endangered in New Guinea; U. S. Gains Upper Hand in Guadalcanal.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Carrying the fight to the enemy, American and allied troops have encircled one Japanese position on New Guinea and apparently are holding the upper hand on Guadalcanal island in the embattled Solomon.

The western jaw of a pincer which the Japanese had hoped to squeeze upon Henderson airfield—centered spot of the Solomon—has been taken away for two days.

This was interpreted as evidence that soldiers and Marine units had the original Japanese thrust against the airfield from that quarter.

To the east American troops are pushing forward a drive to encircle the enemy beachhead at Koli point where reinforcements for the original invasion force were landed.

Advance Four Miles
The Americans advanced four miles out of the beachhead Saturday, Guadalcanal time, the Navy said, apparently violating the eastern jaw of the Japanese pincer.

Meanwhile in New Guinea, allied forces, inflamed by a counter-attack on the evening of Nov. 9, which developed a Japanese position behind Owen, Nipponese supply base.

Holding the enemy front lines with machine gun fire and dropping loads of bombs on communication lines, allied fighting troops worked closely with ground troops in the action, General Douglas MacArthur reported.

The allied command also told of heavy bombers searching out an enemy transport off the coast of New Ireland and inflicting damage which forced the transport skipper to beach the craft.

Two days ago, American planes struck at the invasion forces to the west. They found and destroyed a landing craft on the beach. Ground positions also were assaulted.

Bomb Jap Base
In another aerial attack, American planes moved northward to bomb the Jap seaplane base at Rekata bay on Santa Isabel island. There they destroyed three big float-type biplanes.

A full in major action at sea has continued for more than a week. But the Navy has referred to one of the previous engagements, with announcement that an unidentified destroyer lost in battle on the night of Oct. 11-12 was the Duncan, commissioned only last April.

In the battle the American force sank one heavy cruiser, four destroyers, and a 5,000-ton Japanese ship.

AMERICAN DRIVE SUCCEEDS AT ALL POINTS IN AFRICA

By The Associated Press
Tank-led American troops entered the French naval base at Oran today—the second big Mediterranean port to fall in less than 18 hours—while a United States column struck out southward from Algiers toward Italian Libya in a move to trap the retreating axis armies from Egypt.

As the situation boiled to a climax, with American forces reported everywhere successful, axis leaders were reported frantically seeking means to effect counterblows.

Soviet quarters in London said German Field Marshal Erwin Von Witzleben had arrived in North Africa to direct Vichy (French) operations, and there was some speculation that the French fleet might attempt to put in at Bizerte, on the Tunisian coast before U. S. forces arrive there.

Lieutenant General Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander-in-chief of the United States expedition against French North Africa, said Oran fell to the Americans only a few hours after the assault on the Algerian port began.

With United States forces already holding Algiers, then other prime objectives in North Africa—Tunisia, Morocco, Libya, and the outposts of Oran in an almost attack which began at 1:30 a. m.

Amidst the bulge of north Africa in the Atlantic, United States aircraft and heavy warships were bombarding the harbor of Casablanca.

Then guns had put the new 35,000-ton French battleship Jean Bart in flames and had wiped out light forces of French destroyers which had been harassing American landings on the Atlantic coast. The attack appeared to be moving to final stages.

The Berlin radio, however, broadcast reports that the main French fleet had steamed from its European base at Brest on Sunday, but nothing has been heard from it so far.

Dispatches from La Lima, Spain, reported the arrival of powerful allied naval reinforcements at Gibraltar, including the British aircraft carrier Furious, six destroyers and 22 merchant ships.

The 25,000-ton British battleship Queen Elizabeth and other warships were reported anchored in the harbor, while other many light frigates kept up a constant patrol.

Tank-led U. S. army soldiers and paratroopers were reported attacking a series of key points along the Mediterranean and Atlantic coasts with heavy fighting raging at Casablanca and Oran after 100 miles east of fallen Oran.

A Vichy broadcast said an American force was driving toward Algiers, 120 miles south of Oran, in a direct line toward the Libyan desert, indicating a possible attack on the inland desert at Tripoli, capital, and beyond to Tunis, Libya, and the rear of Field Marshal Rommel's army.

One report, unconfirmed, said the French fleet was heading for the Atlantic coast, but the end of the argument.

The United States command has announced its readiness to accept General Henri Girard as leader of an anti-Vichy uprising in French North Africa.

Prime Minister Churchill reported today that he had gone to Rome to take stock of the situation in the south against Axis Europe.

The rout of Rommel's army of the Nile is smashing at axis headquarters making them feel that the Egyptian oil.

Prime Minister Churchill called the battle of Egypt a remarkable and decisive victory over a new expeditionary force, the end of the argument.

MURDER on the Campus

By JERRY BRONFELD

CHAPTER 19.
The D. A. Acan.

It didn't take much to get up a nice, lazy gab-session at the Delta Sigma house, and Susan and four or five others were in one, sprawled around Doris Osborne's room, helping her take care of a package of cookies and fruit from home.

Doris rose from one elbow and examined an apple. "I heard a piping hot rumor today and it's a honey. The Pi Gams a few days ago—maybe a week—decided to offer Todd Malone as a senior class vice-presidential candidate at the Combine caucus next Monday night. The way I hear it, he hasn't exactly agreed to it but if he does we're going to have a fight on our hands."

"Why?" Jane asked curiously, beating Susan to the punch. "Simple," Doris gestured with the apple. "We've got to face facts. We can't risk possible inclusion on the party slate of a candidate who may cause the defeat of the entire program."

"Our particular gamble is too great," Doris went on. "We're going to try to get a candidacy to the Student Court for Martha Vaughan, and if we make it, that means a good chance of landing the first woman justice in student court history."

The rumor was a new one to Susan but in a flash the situation, if true, spread out in her mind. There was a cloud on her face and lightning in her eye as she turned on Doris.

"I've seen a lot of campus politics in the four years I've been here and I'm getting a little sick of it. And I'm going to tell you a few things, especially since you're on the political committee."

Susan was all warmed up, now, and every eye in the room was riveted on her. Something was popping.

Laying Down the Law.

"If the Pi Gams submit Malone's name as a candidate I'll bet it's because they're figuring on undertaking something more important than a campus political battle. They won't be gambling a time-served class office that won't mean a thing a couple of years from now. They'll be gambling something much bigger. Don't make me draw you a picture, I never was much good at melodrama, and besides, I'm not equal to it." She paused, out of breath.

"But Susan," Doris pleaded, "don't you see that—"

"Yes, I see, all right," Susan interrupted. "I can see that I'm going to have to hold every girl in the house personally accountable for any action they take in the step you suggest, because it won't be much fun living here with people who can't see a simple, moral course of action."

Jane whistled. "Nice going, Susie, and allow me to stick my cent and a half in. I know Martha Vaughan well enough to bet she won't have a thing to do with the student court business if it means sticky politics. And as I recall, we have some kind of gentlemen's agreement with the Pi Gams to back their candidates at this year's Caucus."

But at lunch the next day Jane brought the news that forestalled any possibility of a delicate situation at the Delta Sigma house.

"I saw Eddie this morning," she told Susan. "And I asked him about that rumor Doris was telling us about last night. Well, in the first place he cursed because there had been a leak. In the second place, he admitted it was true—but it's all over now. Todd backed out a couple of nights ago. No reason—but Eddie said none of the boys pressed him for any."

"Possibly you know," Jane continued with a shaking glance at

Susan, "that the big ape had been as close-mouthed as the proverbial clam, as sour as the well-known lemon, and as easy to live with as a Gertie agent. A cheerful ray of sunshine all the way around."

"Yes—I had heard," Susan said evenly. "And about the politics, I think I'm glad, Jane, that he isn't going to be a candidate. I'm glad there isn't a chance for him to be thrown for another loss."

"You figure he would have lost?"

"Maybe not. I was thinking of the chance of losing and the effect it might have had on him."

Hot Tip.

The next day Susan received a phone call from the district attorney's office. Mr. Hinton wanted to see her, could she come down that afternoon?

Susan had other plans but she knew she'd have to discard them. When she walked into Hinton's office he rose to greet her, drew up a chair for her.

"Mrs. Drake, I sent for you because we've discovered something of particular interest about Philip

Guard Against Wartime Constipation

It's frequently due to lack of "bulk"

Millions of folks these war days are cramped out, with no sign of relief. Their working, sleeping, especially their eating habits are different. Meals are apt to be too irregularly spaced—and they pay the important matter of "bulk" in the case.

Yet getting enough "bulk" means all the difference. For lack of it is the common cause of constipation. Medicinal laxatives give only temporary relief in such cases; they don't cure the cause.

But Killo's All-Star Constipation Laxative is different. It's a "bulk" laxative, often brings lasting relief from the trouble. Eat this crisp, clean cereal regularly, drink plenty of water and "Join the Regulars" as made by Killo's in Battle.

' . . . On November 10th, 1775, a Corps of Marines was created by resolution of the Continental Congress'

"FIRST TO FIGHT ... FOR RIGHT and FREEDOM"

For 167 Years . . . these words have epitomized the spirit of the U. S. Marine Corps. Ever since that day in 1775 when the Continental Congress authorized the establishment of the first marine unit, the Leathernecks have been first to protect the rights and liberties of the American people. From the Battle of Trenton to the Argonne, Marines have won foremost honors in war . . . In every battle since the birth of the Corps, Marines have acquitted themselves with the greatest distinction, winning new honors on each occasion until the term Marine has come to signify all that is highest in military efficiency and soldierly virtue. Now, in the Solomon Islands, the Leathernecks are daily living up to the traditions of their brilliant past. Today, on their 167th birthday, all of America salutes the U. S. Marine Corps, whose glorious history is so closely interwoven with the history of our country. Those of us who are not in the Marines pledge today to do everything in our power to help them get this Victory job done.

This Week-End To Drop Curtain On Most Ohio High School Grid Seasons

Schools Prepare To Turn Attention To Basketball; Massillon's Victory String Now 51.

By JOHN COLBURN
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 10.—Ohio's high school football season is drawing to a close as the 1942 season ends with a bang. The season's last game, a victory for Massillon over Lakewood, 21-0, ended a string of 51 consecutive wins.

With basketball play already started in many districts, some schools are turning their attention to the basketball season.

Bob Lutes, Massillon's 12-year-old, sensational junior, Negro backfield star, ended his season with a terrific scoring spree to grab the individual point-making championship. He garnered 53 points in 10 games, including 22 points in the final game against Lakewood.

Lutes in his three years of football has scored 160 points.

Massillon's 51-0 record is a new high for the school. The team's record is 51-0-0, including 11 wins over the state champions.

McKinley defeated Lakewood 21-0, ending a string of 21 consecutive wins.

Six other teams in addition to Massillon kept long victory records intact in last week's engagements.

The Kent, Ohio Soldiers and Sailors' Orphan home eleven concluded its season by thrashing up its 20th straight win in a game with Lancaster Boys' Industrial School.

Powhatan was held to a surprise 13-0 tie by St. Clairsville, but maintained a record of being unbeaten in 25 games. Tiltonville has 23 straight, Lakewood 21, Toledo Liberty 17 and Fredericktown 15.

Other undefeated teams this year include: Columbus North, Mansfield, Dover, Boardman, Arlington, Hudson and Sandusky. St. Mary's, all triumphant in eight games, and Dayton Oakwood, winner of seven.

Lakewood Notches 21st

While Lakewood was winning its 21st consecutive game against Shaker Heights the Rangers had their goal crossed for the first time. Chuck Gruppard, Shaker Heights' halfback, sprinted 90 yards to give Shaker 6 points against Lakewood's 21.

Another of Ohio's unscathed teams not only was scored on but was outscored. Medina had blanked its opponents in winning seven straight games, but Clearview apparently hadn't heard about the record. Clearview trounced Medina on its home field 20 to 6.

Undefeated Dover is expected to have little trouble beating

Columbus Friday night to clinch the Central Ohio league title. The Massillon Valley league title went to Olney, which hadn't lost any of its six league games.

Up in northeastern Ohio, Ashtabula holds the reins in the Lake Shore league with a season record of 10 wins and a tie. Down in the southwestern Ohio league Middletown also continued unbeaten and tied once in seven games.

Sandusky St. Mary's by finishing its eight games without a loss. Coach Lee Zierell's four-year undefeated team in 10 years of coaching at Sandusky. The others were in 1933, 1935 and 1936.

The only individual close to Lutes in the individual scoring competition is Ohio State's Fred Cline, who has 49 points in 10 games. This year still left him 122 points to Lutes. Cline got 33 as Fredericktown won its 14th straight over Granville 29 to 0.

Tiltonville scored its 23rd straight win over Lakewood, 20-0, in the final game of the season. Tiltonville had won 13 consecutive games, including 11 wins over Lakewood.

The big game of the week on the scholastic front—Lakewood trying for victory No. 22 against McKinley.

Most disappointed player of the week—Don Cunningham of Cleveland, who ran an intercepted pass 101 yards only to have the touchdown called back because of a penalty.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—This (if read) probably will draw re-buffs from at least 47 places, but, off this season's football records we figure it will be just too bad for other states if those Ohio grid coaches ever carry out their threat to route all their good players to Ohio State. As if the Buckeyes weren't already good enough, just think what they'd be if you added, say, Frankie Sinkwich and his catcher, George Postner, now at Georgia; Eddie Prokop from Cleveland and Georgia Tech; Hubs Hume and Jack Martin of Navy; Rochester's Jimmy Sures, leading scorer in the East, and those Colgate freshmen from Columbus, Jack Clifford and Walt McQuade, who were two good reasons why Columbia lost that "basketball" game Saturday. . . . Anyway, you no longer can say the way to get a football team is to herd for the Pennsylvania coal mines.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Down in the Solomon Islands, our Marines landed from convoy and troops in Higgins' landing boats. These boats are specially constructed . . . with a shielded propeller to negotiate sand bars and shallow water. They are capacious, extremely buoyant and some have landing ramps so that tanks may roll out on the beach.

They are powered by an internal combustion engine and cost up to $12,000 each. You can help pay for these important factors in Marine operations with your regular purchase of War Bonds. If all of us INVEST AT LEAST TEN PER CENT of our income every payday, we will provide Uncle Sam with enough money to do the job. War costs money and this is your war.

BIG TEN LEAD AT STAKE SATURDAY IN BUCK-ILLINI GAME

George Slusser, Ex-Massillon Star, To Sub for Bob Frye.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 10.—A hard, tough game with the accent on speed and wide-open play is the way Ohio State's Western Conference title meeting with Illinois stands up today.

For 50 minutes they'll battle in Cleveland Saturday to see which will stay in the top spot, a position they now share with Iowa. The Hawkeyes must upset dangerous Minnesota to keep in the running. Each of the leaders has won three and lost one game.

May Switch To Air

Paul Buxler, Asst. Int. Ohio coach, reported after seeing the Illini that they have a fast-moving team with players who follow the ball like hawks and play a hard, bruising game. Illinois has scored twice this year on ball-leading plays.

Ohio State, with one of the fastest charging lines in the conference, also gave evidence in Saturday's Pittsburgh game that it would supplement its breaching offensive power with more passes and a greater use of end runs—a type of game Illinois also uses.

That the Bucks would do more passing also was apparent in the shift that sent George Slusser of Massillon from third string left halfback to alternate with Les Horvath of Cleveland in the regular right halfback position.

Is Ace Passer

Slusser is Ohio's ace passer and what Brown describes as an "all-round, resourceful player." He moved to the spot held by Bob Frye of Crestline, who suffered a broken leg Saturday.

Satisfied that he had filled the right halfback post in capable fashion, Brown bemoaned his lack of a punter as Buxler recounted how Illini's right halfback, Walt Carroll, consistently kicks the ball 50 to 70 yards.

Two of Ohio's best punters, Bill Dursch and Tom Cleary, are on the injury shelf and probably won't play the rest of the year. Brown also said that sub center Jack Roe of Steubenville turned up with a sprained ankle after the Pittsburgh game, leaving the Bucks with nine ailing team members.

Mrs. Stough welcomed the team for the mothers and Val Ramsey, captain, responded.

Main speaker for the evening was Coach Jim Lympor who introduced his players and reviewed the events of the season. Fred Staub and Robert Shaffer, assistant coaches, also spoke. There then followed a football game at Reize Park under the lights, with the fathers of the players opposing them. Dancing was enjoyed at the high school auditorium.

Ohio State Slips to 10th Place in College Grid Poll

Georgia Still Rated in No. 1 Position with Georgia Tech in Second Spot.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—It isn't likely that last Saturday's collection of upsets will be duplicated this week-end, but that doesn't mean there won't be a lot of shifting in the next Associated Press poll to determine the 13 best college football teams.

Right now Georgia and Georgia Tech are at the top of the ladder of public opinion as expressed by 112 experts and it isn't likely that the Sinkwich, Davis, Trippi & Co. outfit will be much disturbed by Chattanooga.

SPARE TIRE FLOOD NOT YET AT CREST

Motorists Turn in Extra Castings by Thousands.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 10.—Ohio automobile owners with more than five tires to a car are flooding the federal government with their "extras" to qualify for gasoline rationing, and the crest apparently hasn't been sighted.

A survey of six cities showed today 120,700 tires collected, and a spokesman for the Railway Express, designated as official gathering agency by the Defense Supplies Corp., said "we haven't even scratched the surface yet." The run developed as motorists sought to qualify in advance of the Nov. 12, 13 and 14 registration dates for gasoline on which rationing starts Nov. 22.

Automobile owners with few exceptions have been instructed to sell all except their five best tires to the government at prices fixed by appraisers. Those having more than the basic five tires a car will be denied mileage ration books.

Latest available figures showed 50,000 tires collected in Greater Cleveland. Columbus reported 25,000; Akron 20,000; Toledo 10,000; Cincinnati 8,700 and Youngstown 7,000.

An express company official in Columbus said 7,000 tires were collected in the city Sunday and Monday and that calls from car owners asking that their extra tires be picked up averaged one a minute yesterday.

Tires and tubes collected will be redistributed under a tire rationing program designed to make recapped tires or recapping services available for essential driving. Motorists are allowed to keep excess tubes, if desired.

Howard Ray, express company commercial agent in Columbus, estimated that two per cent of tires received here were now some of them in original wrapping, but that about 60 per cent were "practically junk."

Question Mark Hang Over 1942 Pro Golf Season

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—The 1942 professional golf season, according to a survey today, is a question mark.

Their winter tour last year, the Miami, Fla., and Palm Beach, Fla., and other winter tour cancellations of your own meetings and the Augusta National in April. PGA representatives were uncertain, as well as definite, of next year's plans.

Today's second session of national meeting was to elect officers and a new season of new business, which presumably meant the most war-time promotion of tournaments or matches in four to eight players and including exhibition tours for Cross benefit and the stimulation of war bond sales.

AMBASSADOR HENRY-HAYE

FRENCH AMBASSADOR HANDED PASSPORTS

France Without Diplomatic Representative in U. S.

By The Associated Press WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—For the first time in more than a century, France today was without formal diplomatic representation in the United States, but the people of that axis-seeked country had President Roosevelt's assurance that "we have not broken relations with the French."

The President pointed out in a statement yesterday that there was nothing the United States could do about the Vichy government's announced severance of relations with this country.

"Nevertheless," he added, "no act of Hitler or of any of his puppets can sever relations between the American people and the people of France. We have not broken relations with the French. We never will."

Because there was nothing else to do about it, the state department yesterday formally completed the break announced Sunday by Chief of Government Pierre Laval. He sent the French ambassador his passports thus officially ending the career of Gaston Henry-Haye as Vichy's envoy in Washington and terminating the functions of his embassy.

There was no talk of interfering with Henry-Haye and his staff, as German, Japanese and Italian diplomats were interned last December. When the subject came up at his Monday press conference, Secretary of State Hull pointed out that this time it was simply severance of diplomatic relations, not a case of declared war.

On the other hand, Washington commentators of Henry-Haye now or thought they saw indication that he would repudiate his Vichy connection and adhere to the allied cause.

COMMITTEE AGREES ON NEW DRAFT BILL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—A joint senate-house committee agreed today on a teen-age draft bill inviting a senate provision requiring a year's military training before 18 and 19 year old soldiers could be sent into foreign combat.

The conference agreement came after the house had rejected by an overwhelming vote yesterday a provision by Representative Rankin (D-Miss.) to instruct its conferees to accept the training amendment.

Elimination of this provision cleared the way for expected speedy final approval by congress of the legislation which would lower the draft age from the present minimum of 20 years to 18.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

DICKY'S query caught me unaware, and I could not control a convulsive start as I realized that my husband must have noted my telltale face at the hideaway.

But I managed to control my voice as I answered: "Neither of the things you mention is winding me up."

Yet I had been piqued to know that my father had confided to Dicky Jack's continued presence at the hideaway, meantime keeping me in ignorance of my brother-cousin's whereabouts and condemning Katharine to torturing suspense about her husband's safety.

"I was surprised, naturally," I went on, "to know Jack had been safe at the hideaway, while I have been trying to quiet Katharine's frantic anxiety about him, but I am not aware of any nerve tension."

Reason To Be Sorry

My husband gave me a disarmingly tender smile.

"Snap out of it, old girl," he admonished me. "You're sure, not I don't blame you. In your place I'd be biting nails in two. Sure you wouldn't feel better if you emitted a lady-like dam or two?"

That sent me off into laughter, and he lifted me into his arms, then sat down, cradling me as he does our baby, Faith.

"Here are two things you'd better digest before you get any sorer," he said. "First, Dad didn't tell me about Jack being at the hideaway. I stumbled on the knowledge about as you did. Second, Dad's kept you in ignorance because Jack insisted you must not know, lest you betray your knowledge to Katharine."

Promise to Jack

"I promised Jack the night he came to the hideaway, that I would not tell Katharine until he gave me permission," I said resentfully. "But why did Father tell me Jack had gone away again, when he never had left?"

"But he did leave," Dicky said surprisingly. "Dad told you the truth, holding back only that Jack had promised to return to the hideaway, if he could not find another place free from danger where he could complete his experiment."

"He returned within twenty-four hours, mostly, I imagine, because he could find no place where he would not endanger old Professor Diswell, for whom the gangsters are still looking, both Jack and Dad are sure, because they think they could force the old professor to decipher the cryptogram. So both Jack and Professor Diswell are still at the hideaway."

Still Rebellious

"Dad didn't deceive you, you see," Dicky finished triumphantly. "He simply, at Jack's insistence, omitted to tell you of your cousin's return. Does that satisfy you?"

"It will have to," I said, still rebellious at Katharine's continued crucifixion. "There isn't anything I can do about it."

"You might let Dad know you lamped old Jack," my husband suggested doubtfully. "He might bring pressure to bear on Jack to rescind the ban on telling Katharine."

"You know very well he would do nothing of the sort," I retorted a bit acidly. "So there's no use annoying him by telling him I saw Jack."

"Senseless girl!" my husband commended. "Let's talk of something else. What do you suggest, Olga want of you?"

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Colds

A COLD in the head is an infection of the mucous membrane of the nose. In health, the membrane of the nose is an extensive thick, soft cushion, covered with mucous, and well supplied with blood vessels.

When a cold strikes, this membrane goes through three stages of change. First, there is a great engorgement of the blood vessels, and there is also a drying of the surface of the membrane. This gives the feeling of tightness, stiffness and dry discomfort. The second stage is when white blood cells, or phagocytes, wander out on the surface of the membrane and begin to fight the germs. There is some little discharge at this time, but of a watery character.

The third stage is one in which the germs have been licked and engulfed by the white blood cells, and they begin to be discharged in masses of mucus. The mucous glands have been stimulated to abnormal activity and great masses of mucus are discharged.

The general treatment of a cold consists in making the patient as comfortable as possible with rest, hot foot baths, protective blankets and such medicines as aspirin.

Everyone, however, thinks that the local condition in the nose should be treated, and while this does appear logical, it should be done with some regard for the changes that are going on.

During the first stage applications to the inside of the nose are not only futile, but harmful. What is needed is moisture for the swollen, dry membrane. So steam inhalations and steam kettles to moisten the atmosphere are in order. Plenty of fluids by mouth, so that the whole body is full of fluid, is an adjunct to the local administration of moisture.

During the second stage—about the second or third day—the less local treatment the better because manipulation right interfere with the action of the white blood corpuscles.

The third stage, heralded by the discharge of mucous and pus, indicates that the battle between the germs and the white blood corpuscles is about over and now local treatment may be of great help and relief. The accumulated debris should be removed by douching and softening sprays.

As good a solution to use as any is salt solution. It dissolves mucous and does the slightest amount of harm.

Drugs for the nose should be selected with care as the ones with destructive action do more harm than good.

A new method of giving vaccines for the prevention of colds is to spray it in the nose. Good results are reported in 74 per cent of cases, failures in 16 per cent.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, Nov. 11.

A GENERALLY adverse and challenging state of affairs is read from a disheartening chain of planetary configurations. It is difficult to make much definite or constructive progress under such influences, which seem to undermine worldly effort at the very source of inspiration as well as execution. With secret, subtle and in places sinister manipulations, menacing both public and private activities, it would demand much ingenuity, shrewd and cunning insight and programs in order to make much headway. The major danger would be in stooping to kindred fraud or intrigue.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves involved in a year of intrigue, trickery, duplicity and fraud in which it may be next to impossible to make much progress. Peculiar situations and influences seem to beset the path on all sides, and it will take some clever strategy and much vigilance and some tactics to avert embroilment in difficulties of a sinister nature. The outstanding menace, however, may be a predisposition to resort to similar deceitful and disreputable tactics, so forfeiting public approbation or inviting drastic public reprisals. Keep integrity and honor intact.

A child born on this day may encounter so many perilous adventures in its career, as to build up its own defenses on the lines of expediency rather than principle. Early direction into high cultural or mystical channels may help him avoid this.
